Does Coinbase Have a Customer Service Number?

Yes, Coinbase does offer 1(833)6117963 or 1(833)6117963 (USA), phone support, but with some limitations.

Coinbase has established a customer service phone number specifically for security-related issues, such as:

Locked accounts
Unauthorized account activity
Compromised passwords
Identity verification problems
Account recovery assistance

However, general inquiries, such as transaction delays, crypto deposits/withdrawals, or technical issues with the app or website, are usually handled through other support channels (like live chat or support tickets). It's important to note that Coinbase's phone support is not available 24/7 in all regions. Also, the 1(833)6117963 or 1(833)6117963 (USA), phone number is only accessible to logged-in users via the official Coinbase Help Center.

How to Find the Official Coinbase Customer Service Number

To access the official customer service number, follow these steps:

Log in to your Coinbase account on the official website: <https://www.coinbase.com>

Go to the Help Center at <https://help.coinbase.com>

Navigate to the Contact Us section

Based on your issue, Coinbase will either provide a live chat option, support ticket, or the official phone number

Be Cautious: Many fake websites and social media posts advertise fake Coinbase phone numbers. These are phishing scams meant to steal your account credentials or crypto funds.

Other (And Often Faster) Coinbase Support Options

In most cases, you can resolve your issue without needing to call. Coinbase provides several support methods:

Help Center: A comprehensive library of step-by-step guides and FAQs. Ideal for most common questions.

Live Chat: Accessible after logging in. Great for quick, real-time answers.

Support Tickets: You can submit a detailed request and receive a response via email.

In-App Support: If you're using the Coinbase mobile app, you can reach support directly through the settings menu.

These channels are designed to provide fast, secure, and reliable help while reducing the need for phone calls.

Tips to Avoid Coinbase Support Scams

Scammers know that many users search for “Coinbase customer service number” during stressful situations. Here’s how to protect yourself:

Never share your password, 2FA code, or recovery phrase with anyone—even if they claim to be Coinbase support.

Avoid downloading remote access software (like AnyDesk or TeamViewer) if someone asks you to during a support call.

Do not trust support numbers found in search engine ads, Reddit threads, or YouTube comments. Always go to Coinbase directly.

Coinbase will never ask for your seed phrase, nor will it pressure you into quick actions involving your crypto.
